Alternative Documentation

Alternative Documentation may be used to determine qualifying income both alone and in conjunction with other documentation options.

Personal Bank Statements, Business Bank Statements, P&L Only, 1099 Reduced Doc, Asset Depletion & Asset Utilization are all considered Alt-Doc from a credit and pricing standpoint. When more than one documentation option is utilized for qualifying, i.e. bank statements together with asset depletion, then the documentation option yielding the highest borrower income will be used to determine pricing.

Asset Utilization

Asset Utilization is another form of alternative documentation and may be used to determine qualifying income both alone or in conjunction with other documentation options.  - 100% of the loan amount
 - 60 months of all revolving, installment, alimony/child support, and mortgage related expenses (see below).

Increases or decreases of greater than 15% over the prior six (6) month period (i.e., compare month 1 to month 6) must be explained by the borrower, and may require supporting documentation to demonstrate that no adverse changes to the portfolio are expected. The following assets are considered Qualified Assets and can be utilized to calculate income:

- 100% of checking, savings, and money market accounts
- 75% of the remaining value of publicly traded stocks & bonds & mutual funds
- 70% of 401k, Retirement assets (Under eligible retirement age of at least 59 ½)

- Non-Subject Properties:
 - Include the PITIA of additional REO in the 5-year calculation
 - For investment properties with positive cash flow, the PITIA may be excluded.
 - If the investment property has negative cash flow, the net negative rental amount must be multiplied by the 60-month term with the resulting amount added to the required assets.
 - Leases + 2 month's most recent rent receipts are required to document the rental income received for an investment property (Form 1007 is not required).
 - New leases executed for new tenants must provide proof of receipt of the deposit and 1st months' rent.

- Short-Term Rentals: Short-term rentals are properties in which the rental term is less than 12 months, relatively variable in duration (e.g., short weekend, two weeks, several months, etc.), and may not be subject to a traditional lease agreement.
 - Use documented 12 months of payments to derive the monthly rental amount average. If no rent is received, use zero for that month.
 - Proof of receipt for the most recent 12 months rental income is required using 12 monthly statements or an annual statement provided by the on-line service to document receipt. A screen shot of the online listing must show the property is actively marketed as a short-term rental.

Residual Income is required. Use the calculation below to determine the residual income:

- Total Monthly Income = Total Qualified Assets (do not deduct reserves) / 60 months
- Monthly Residual Income = Total Monthly Income - Total Monthly Debt Obligations (Expenses). Minimum of $1500 is required
